ASKS WIFE FOR $5; REFUSED, KILLS HER

Holds Up Saloon, Receives Poison and Is Not Expected to Live.

Denver, Colo., Aug. 8.—After shooting his wife twice in the back, inflicting wounds from which the woman died while being rushed to a hospital, Henry Robitill then fired several shots, all of which went wild, at employees and patrons of a restaurant in which the shooting occurred, to prevent their aiding his victim.

Robitill then rushed from the building. Three hours later he walked into a saloon 20 blocks from the scene of the tragedy, drew his revolver and held up the bartender and a half dozen patrons of the place.

"Throw up your hands, you," was the stern command which greeted those in the saloon.

"I've only got this night to live and I might as well go my limit. Give me all the cash that drawer."

Although the men in the saloon offered no resistance Robitill made no move to take the money. Instead, he forced the bartender to give him several drinks. In a moment of relaxed vigilance he was overpowered. Within a few minutes after being taken to the city jail, Robitill became unconscious and was rushed to the county hospital, where late last night it is reported he is suffering from the effects of poison, presumably taken while drinking in the saloon, and is not expected to live.

Robitill and his wife, Pearl Caldwell Robitill, have been separated. Last night Robitill went to the restaurant, at 1911 Larimer, where Mrs. Robitill had been employed, and demanded $5. When the woman refused to give it to him he shot her.

TRY TO SMUGGLE AS SHOTS ARE FIRED

Guadarama Faces Another Charge of Smuggling Ammunition.

Tuesday night when the firing was heard on the river bank near the smelter, which was answered by the American soldiers on patrol, an attempt was made to get a quantity of ammunition to the Mexican side near the smelter, United States officers say.

Sarino Guadarama, Jose Cerros and Isabel Rangel were arrested by federal officers Thursday afternoon, charged with having smuggled 4000 rounds of ammunition across the river between old Fort Bliss and the smelter pump house.

The smuggling is said to have been done under cover of firing which came from the Mexican side, directed at the American soldiers in order to attract their attention away from the place where the smuggling was being done.

Guadarama is now under bond on two separate charges of the same nature and commissioner G. E. Oliver says that he will place his bond high enough to hold him until he can be examined by the federal grand jury.

RANGERS ARREST ALLEGED SMUGGLER

Jesus Permona, a Mexican woman, who is suspected of being implicated in ammunition smuggling operations between El Paso and Juarez, was arrested by state rangers Thursday afternoon and placed in the county jail, according to the secret service officers.

She is alleged to have carried ammunition across the river to Mexico by way of the smelter footbridge.

REBELS REPORTED NEAR FT. HANCOCK

REBELS FIGHT FIRE IN JUAREZ

Fire Destroys Astor Keno Building—Loss Estimated at $25,000.

Fire caused a loss of some $25,000 in Juarez at midnight, raising the new Astor keno building at the corner of Calle Comercio and Avenida Lerdo. The cause of the fire is not known. The keno building is little more than a year old, is in ruins, only the side walls standing. So close are the buildings on the opposite side of the Calle Comercio were single structures, that the fire spread rapidly. Soldiers of the Juarez rebel garrison together with the townspeople fought the flames without any apparent result for more than three hours. Juarez has no fire apparatus, and unlike some previous occasions, a fire department was not organized by the El Paso fire department which during the federal regime often crossed the river to save the Mexican city from destruction.

Fortunately the wind blew from the west, and saved the building along the north side of Calle Comercio. The photograph gallery and restaurant building adjoining the keno building was little damaged. The wooden roofing of the keno hall burned rapidly, throwing sparks over adjoining structures. Most of the books in the keno hall were a general conflagration. The light of the fire could be seen from El Paso, 100 miles away, arousing all varieties of alarming reports.

KNOX GETS FACTS ABOUT MEXICO

Congressman Bartholdt Refers a Letter to the Secretary of State.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8.—Representative Bartholdt, of Pennsylvania, has presented to secretary Knox a letter written by an American business man in Mexico, detailing conditions as they exist in that country and strongly advocating American intervention.

The letter was sent to Mr. Bartholdt by a prominent steel manufacturer of Pittsburgh, who had received it direct from the writer. Conditions in Mexico are reported by him to be such as to justify action by this government, although it is admitted intervention would result in a great loss of life and money and the assumption of grave responsibilities by the United States.

Secretary Knox received the letter and promised to give it his consideration. It is said to be unlikely that the communication will reach the secretary any information which he does not already possess.

They ran into a portion of this bunch near Cucuerech Sunday and had a fight in which 10 of the rebels were killed, although they were much stronger in numbers. Their lack of ammunition was shown by the fact that they fired but four shots.

ly exchanged cards as old friends." Gen. Orozco said.

"Mindez is an old friend of mine and upon his arrival in El Paso today sent me word through a friend that he would like to exchange greetings. I agreed to exchange cards with him near the El Paso smelter and accordingly sent a messenger to carry them. He had nothing to do with any terms for peace. There was no confidence of any character as is reported; simply an exchange of greetings between friends. We did not see each other. With my staff, I remained at a point over 20 kilometers from the bridge.

MINISTER HERNANDEZ REMAINS RETICENT

TWO AMERICANS WERE MURDERED

At Least It Appears So, From Evidences at Ranch Near Colonia Oaxaca.

Douglas, Ariz., Aug. 8.—That two more American lives have been added to the already long list of murdered foreigners in Mexico is the opinion of the friends of Gordie Boyd and J. Boyd, owners of the Carretas ranch, 25 miles east of Colonia Oaxaca. The Boyd brothers with their father, J. J. Boyd, have been located at the ranch for the past 20 years or more.

Recently the two boys have been alone at the ranch with a Chinese cook. The last known of the two was on July 20, when they made a trip to Ojitas for their mail, leaving there to return to the ranch. Two days later, a pack train reached the camp of Gen. Sanjines from Guaymas, having passed by the ranch house.

The house was found wide open and deserted. All of the ranch horses were missing as well as pack of bear hounds, owned by the brothers. Lying about the house and inside were between 300 and 400 empty cartridge shells, showing marks of having only recently been used. The Chinese cook, who had not been known to leave the ranch for years had also disappeared.

The matter was reported to Gen. Sanjines, who immediately sent an officer to make an investigation. The officer returned to camp confirming the story told by the packers but unable to add any details.

The report that the boys had been murdered was denied today by the father of the boys.

LAWYERS REFUSE TO SETTLE CLAIMS

Bryan Says Consul's Advertisement Resembles One For Milk Cows.

Settlement of death claims against the Mexican government on the basis of $2000, the price said to have been paid relatives of a Mexican convict killed in the United States and upon which the precedent was based, will not be acceptable to attorneys for the claimants, who have presented their claims to the Mexican consul here.

J. U. Sweeney, attorney for Mrs. Celia Griffiths, whose husband was killed, and W. H. Chandler, whose son, Walter, was killed during the battle of Juarez, flatly refused the offer of the Mexican consul Wednesday afternoon when it was made at a conference which was held at the consulate.

"I informed the consul that such an offer would not be accepted even before I asked if that amount was Mexican or American money," Mr. Sweeney said.

"I intend to appeal to the state department, as I told them 12 months ago I would be forced to do after the claims had been presented to the Mexican consul."

Another El Paso attorney has declined the offer of the Mexican government to settle for personal injuries caused by the battle of Juarez. Beauregard Bryan, attorney for Mrs. Virginia Morehead, who was shot during the first day of the battle, has notified the consul that he will decline the offer of settlement on the basis of $200 for personal injuries and $200 for death, and will appeal to the American commission which is to be created by the Smith resolution to investigate the claims against Mexico.

"I read the notice in the papers to come to the consulate and 'settle,' and an advertisement for milk cows I was informed that he was not in the building, so I withdrew. I later informed him by telephone that his offer would be acceptable, and that I would appeal to the proper authorities for redress."

MEXICAN STRIKERS AGREE TO RETURN TO MILLS

Mexico City, Mexico, Aug. 8.—Influenced by an appeal from government reports not to contribute more weight to the burden of disorders that Mexico already carries, the textile strikers in both the Orizaba and Puebla districts, have agreed to return to work.

They were promised that a revision of so-called laws be effected within a few months. Puebla strikers promised compliance for five months.

AMERICAN NOT SHOT, BUT DIES OF TYPHOID FEVER

Santa Monica, Calif., Aug. 8.—Reports that Harry Halger, a Los Angeles man, had been tied to a tree and shot to death by Mexican rebels near Tampico, in order to force American intervention, were denied in a message received here today by Mrs. Farris, sister of young Halger, from Halger's widow at San Antonio, Texas. Mrs. Halger declared her husband died of malaria and was buried at Tampico.

BIG MINING INTERESTS IN SONORA HAVE NOT SUFFERED

Douglas, Ariz., Aug. 8.—Reports from all districts of northern Sonora today stated that the big mining interests at Cananea, El Tigre and Nacozari never have been disturbed by the rebels. Federal commanders in various northern Sonora districts are keeping a close watch, as it is supposed the greater part of the rebels fleeing from Chihuahua will eventually find their way into Sonora. So far but small roving bands have been encountered.
